SUMMARY

Currently I am working for Halesway Ltd, an advertising agency that specialises in advertising medical products and services. This is a hard, fast paced environment and I am often working to tight deadlines. During the time that I've worked at Halesway I have rapidly learnt new programming skills and techniques, as well as improved my existing skills.

After studying a degree in Computing I focused my skills in the area of web developing. After 6 years of developing I have learnt many various skills and ideas. I am always trying out new and different techniques to see how they work in order to improve the results I can achieve.
